THE CIBOLA.

The Cibola made her trial trip yesterday afternoon, running down the bay several times. The engines worked very satisfactorily and good speed was maintained. Mr. Foy, Manager of the Niagara Navigation Company, expressing himself well pleased with the performance of the new vessel. The joinder work is well advanced, almost approaching completion, and it is expected that to-morrow will see the Cibola on her way to Toronto, to enter on her regular route next Tuesday morning. Some foreboding to this vessel in which at the first steel steamer built in Canada, great interest is taken, may not be amiss on the present occasion. About eight years ago the Niagara Navigation Company was formed with Hon. Frank Smith, as President, and Mr. Barlow Cumberland, now Vice-President, as Manager. Both these gentlemen had previously been interested in the Lake Superior trade having several steamers, the Chicago, Cumberland and Algoma, run to Port William. When the Niagara Navigation Company was formed the Chicago was sold to the Canadian Pacific and run in connection with the N. Y. C. & M. E. Ry. from Toronto. The business steadily increased, and last year the Company decided to build the Cibola. The present manager of the Company is Mr. John Foy, one of the board of directors, and a gentleman of wide experience and business ability. The Company now owns three steamers, the Chicago, Cumberland and Algoma, and the latter running on the Niagara River between Lewiston and Niagara. At Lewiston the steamers of the Company connect with the Canadian Pacific and run to Port William. The work of construction was commenced on the 24th of May, 1887, in the shipyard of the late James D. Cameron, onto the work of building the hull being entrusted by the owners, the Niagara Navigation Company, of Toronto, to Mr. W. C. White, of Montreal, a well known shipbuilder, Montreal. The work executed by the facilities afforded by the works of the Rathbun Company progressed very rapidly and on Tuesday, May 1st, of the same year, the fine vessel was successfully launched, amid the greatest enthusiasm, and in the presence of several thousand spectators from all sections of the surrounding country. The TRIBUNE of that date contained a descriptive account of the vessel but it may be interesting to many of our readers if we repeat some of the facts recorded at that time. The Cibola is a paddle steamer of the following dimensions—extreme length over deck 238 ft.; depth of hold, 14 ft.; breadth, 26 ft.; draught of water 6 ft. 6 inches; weight over all, 51 ft.; draught of water 6 ft. 6 inches. She is built throughout of Dalmatian steel which is the best known for such purposes, every plate being warranted and having the manufacturer's trade mark stamped thereon. Her model, which is specially designed for stability and speed, is the work of Mr. E. Morton, of Glasgow, the designer of some of the fastest steamers on the Clyde. In consequence of the great power to be exerted by her engines, the hull is given great strength to the details of the hull. The centre is a network of cellular divisions to form the foundation for the machinery. The keelson, transverse and three fore and aft with six longitudinal braces extending throughout from stem to stern, three on each side, give enormous stiffness. At the gunwale, the ribs, the shell-piece 32 inches wide, 3/4 in. steel, secured to the frames by steel gussets, extends the whole way round the vessel, and is angled over at the bow and stern, and across above the deck beams tying everything together. The deck is laid with 24 inch pine, supplied by the Rathbun Company, and is a fine piece of work. The rivets used are 3/4 in. best Lowmoor iron, same as used in high class boilers, and the workmanship throughout is of the highest quality. The hull is divided into five compartments by water-tight bulkheads. The engines are the work of Messrs. Rankin & Blackmore, of Greenock, who make a specialty of fast paddle engines for the celebrated Clyde passenger steamers. They are of the direct-acting diagonal compound type, using two cylinders of 47 inches and 85 inches in diameter, the stroke being 5 ft 6 inches. In designing these engines, Messrs. Rankin & Blackmore's effort was to make the machinery as light as possible consistent with ample strength, and to this end the almost universal exhaust steam jacket round the high pressure cylinder was dispensed with, a pocket being substituted, thus effecting a considerable saving of weight. The exhaust pipe from the low pressure cylinder to the condenser is also made of copper as against the usual practice of cast iron, and the condenser itself is a cylindrical casting of light metal, and a fine piece of work. veniently brought together on the engine platform, so as to be easily handled by one man. There are two single acting air pumps, which with the feed and bilge pumps, are worked from the piston rod cross-heads by means of drag links and bell cranks, arranged so that the various buckets and plungers serve to counter-balance to a considerable extent, the weight of the high and low pressure pistons, thus practically doing away with the unpleasant jerk so noticeable in many paddle boats. The paddle shafting is all forged of "double wrought" iron for extra strength, and the paddle wheels are of the "feathered" description. The diameter of the wheels is 21 ft. 10 inches, the shafts and each of six steel boilers of the "navy" type, 7 ft 6 inches diameter and 16 ft long, with a working pressure of 90 lbs. Three of these boilers are placed forward of the engines and the other three aft; both sets are fitted with forced draught on the "clueless aspirator" system. There are two double smoke-stacks, the outer casing being a simple drum in diameter. Her running consumption of fuel will be about one and a quarter tons per hour. The three forward boilers were manufactured by Mr. N. C. White, of Montreal, and the other two were made by Messrs. Inglis & Hunter, of Toronto, the latter firm having also manufactured the smoke boxes and funnels. The boilers and pipes were tested on board both by the American and Canadian inspectors and were pronounced highly satisfactory. The copper sheathing pipes were sent out from Scotland, having been tested at 200 lbs. pressure before leaving for this country. For conveying signals the Captain's patent engine room telegraph will be employed, orders by this system being indicated on a dial as well as means of bells thus ensuring almost instantaneous communication from accidents. The engines were started for the first time on June 1st, making a most satisfactory record for the day.

The work of fitting up the engines and machinery was supervised by Mr. Archibald Rankin, of Greenock, Scotland, representing Messrs. Rankin & Blackmore, the builders. Although only a young man, Mr. Rankin has proved himself a skillful and capable engineer. He has been unwearied in the discharge of his duties, and has discharged them with an unfailing courtesy which has made him a favorite with all classes in Deseronto. In his difficult task he was aided by Mr. W. C. Webster, the competent engineer of the new steamer.

The joinder work of the Cibola was entrusted to the care of Mr. Charles Dubreuil, of Montreal, a gentleman who enjoys an almost national reputation for his skill in this branch of ship building. He has executed much of the work on the Richelieu, the late Captain C. J. Lawrence, and the steamer. All the joinder work of the Cibola was designed by Mr. Dubreuil and has been carefully carried out under his personal supervision by a large force of skilled mechanics from Montreal and Deseronto, in a manner which must enhance his own reputation as a shipbuilder. All his designs were carefully calculated to provide accommodation, complete and comfortable for the travelling public. As the Cibola will carry 1200 passengers it will be seen that the work required to be of the most substantial character, and even the casual visitor cannot but be struck by the richness of the naval architect have been fulfilled in this respect. It would be idle to attempt to give in detail a full account of all the parts of this magnificent vessel. Commencing on the main deck with the principal saloon which naturally first attracts attention on the part of the visitor, we are immediately struck by its richness and appearance, as it is finished in solid mahogany. The contractor for this portion was Mr. Wm. Wright, of Deseronto, who is well known for his skill in this branch of artistic work. The saloons of most of the floating palaces on the great lakes being designed and finished by him. All the furniture in the saloon are of solid mahogany and many of the other fixtures are of the same character. Each end of the saloon is finished in mahogany, and is a beautiful design, the whole being surrounded with ornamental plastic work. The ceiling is frescoed with plastic work, ornamented with a variety of designs. The windows are of solid plate glass with stained glass panes, and sliding curtains. The "ladies' cabin and retiring room are entered by a door with sliding curtain and stained glass panes. The whole saloon presents a strikingly rich and luxurious appearance. Coming out of the saloon, and just forward of it is the stair case leading to the promenade deck. This magnificent specimen of workmanship is all in solid mahogany. The newel posts at the foot of the stairs reach from the main to the promenade deck and are very richly carved. The top balustrade of similar material runs all around, the whole presenting an exceedingly handsome appearance. The work has been done under the eye of Mr. R. G. Simpson, one of Mr. Wright's most skillful foremen. Forward of the main saloon is the entrance to the main deck, and next to it the porter's and check room. Still going forward in the engine room, the very neatly finished and next the mess room and kitchen finished in oak, ash and cherry. A space for baggage and light freight is reserved and then comes the smoking and bar room which is most exquisitely finished in ash, oak and cherry polished to the highest degree of perfection. Mr. Dubreuil has received numerous congratulations on the exquisite finish he has imparted to this room, which is considered one of the best specimens of artistic work in the vessel. Forward of the bar-room is the anchor windlass, &c. Below the main deck and forward is the forecastle, where the men will sleep, and lighted, and going aft, the oiler room, finished in pine with treaty benches, every thing being exceedingly comfortable. The dining room is situated below the main deck under the main saloon; it is spacious, neatly finished and has lunch counter, pantries, &c. The promenade deck is approached by two stair ways. Reaching it one is struck most forcibly with the great size of the Cibola. As she will be chiefly employed in the excursion business there is little of this deck occupied. The Captain's room is forward under the pilot house and immediately aft and connected with it is the parlor room. Aft of the after smokestack is the directors' room, both well furnished. The life preservers are stowed overhead and of these there are no less than 1200. Climbing up to the awning deck and finding the Cibola is rigged with one mast, with jib and mainmast. The pilot house is on this deck and here are placed the various instruments with American inspection requirements. The steamer will carry four large life boats. As we have already stated, the extensive works and well equipped factories and shops of the Rathbun Company afforded every facility for the prosecution of the work, and gave unlimited scope for procuring the best of material suitable for building such a large vessel. The shipyard furnished all the lumber for the decks, coarings, stringers, and indeed all the hardware employed was furnished and dressed by the same establishment, which possesses the very best facilities for cutting and working the same to best advantage. To Mr. Wm. Evans the captain of the Deseronto ship, Messrs. Dubreuil, Rankin, and other contractors express themselves as being especially indebted for advice and cheerfully rendered assistance. BETHEL.

From Our Own Correspondent.
We ought to be pretty good people here as we have two local preachers in our midst, Mr. Frank Spafford and Mr. Horbly Way. I think there is some work for them to do right at home. In the first place I should advise them to exhort the people to keep cattle and sheep off the high way, as it is a disgrace to the neighborhood the way stock is allowed to run at large contrary to law. They also at the church and the church yard appear to be very attractive to the road runners, they make a sad looking place of it, as well as very trying to the officers. You can scarcely get into the shed without getting your boots not very well polished. There must be a very extra good lot of Christians when we will stand such things and hold our noses. Some of our people who are not satisfied with stealing the pasture on the high way, try and do occasionally steal the pasture in the school yard. After dark when folks should all be enjoying sweet repose, one particular individual stalks out and turns his horses into the school yard. I don't know what you Deseronto people would call such a man but I think you would call him just what I think he is a very mean man; but I am thankful to say we have not many such men and I hope he will take the hint as well as several others and keep the road clear of stock or one of our people somebody will have to be at the trouble of impounding a lot of them. The only wonder is that it has not been done long ago. Every man has to open his eyes and shut his every time he goes in or out, it is impeding a little too much on good nature but there is a limit to patience, and unless there is a change, the law must and will be enforced.

TYNDINGA RESERVE.

From Our Own Correspondent.
Council on Wednesday, the 5th inst., census revised and other important business transacted. The ancient and venerable Womers are planning to take a hand in the election for chairs which will come off in the fall, forgetting that they are advocates of sedentary chairs.
The Reverend Mr. Holburn, of Sheffield, England, preached at the three services on the Mohawk Reserve on Sunday last. He was well pleased to see and hear one who had made the acquaintance of Chief Amoskith in England. Mr. Holburn before leaving, hoped to visit the Mohawk and Canada, determined to spend, if possible a quiet Sunday with the people of this settlement, which he accomplished with great pleasure to him and to hear one who was privileged to listen to his earnest sermons.
John Claus had a successful lie on Saturday last, his neighbors turned out to assist him in preparing a piece of land for buckwheat.
David Smith has a wonderful cow, not that she jumps over the moon, but she far outstrips her neighbors in milk giving and butter yielding qualities. She gives 25 quarts of milk each day, and on the 25th ending 17th May produced 534 lbs of butter. She is a common Canadian 9 year old.
The Porcupine grove which is controlled by the incumbent, never looked better at present.
The prayer for rain was said at the service in Christ Church on Wednesday.
Isaac Poxley is not only our model farmer but excels his neighbors in his garden in which may be found the earliest vegetables and the choicest of small fruits.
The 4th of June, formerly our big holiday, is now scarcely observed. Old training day celebrated on the 4th of June in honor of the birthday of King George III. was much abused. We still receive the memory of our benefactor but have wisely discontinued the old time manner of keeping it.
Mr. Thomas Hinchey, of Deseronto, has placed a handsome stone in Christ Church cemetery to the memory of his wife and infant.
Our annuity this spring appeared small, one dollar and twenty-two cents each, but we cannot make improvements, give grants and increase in numbers and still have a large sum to distribute each year.

The Rev. J. W. Foster, the Incumbent of the English Church Mission here, has resigned and much regret is expressed at his intended removal from this neighborhood. Mr. Foster was highly esteemed by his own people and much respected by other denominations.

CENTENNIAL AT BATH.

From the Kingston Daily.
On Sunday a centennial celebration was successfully held in the Anglican Church at Bath, of which Rev. E. H. M. Baker, one of the most venerable of Canadian clergymen, judged by long service and devotion to duty. In 1787 there arrived in Kingston to Carlton Island a devout and energetic missionary of the English Church, John Langhorne. A few days later he arrived at Bath, a chosen station, and from that day the village has had a continuous, though oftentimes discouraging, history as a mission and parish. The anniversary services were held on Sunday, June 3rd, when the church edifice had exactly completed its centennial of existence as a place of service. The date over the main door is 1793, but the records correct this to 1795. No doubt the painter had a veneration for antiquity and an undue daily waiting in the people at large, and added the two years as very light interest on so large and deserving a loan from past generations. The church in appearance does not belie its age, and yet it is a marvel that a frame building should have been so well preserved through such a century of use, and even neglect, at times. Truly it has had a protecting providence around and about it. A very hopeful era for church revival and extension has set in, and the Rev. Mr. Baker, as shepherds by improvements already made in chancel, seats and walls, it is the design to preserve and renovate the old building, and to add to it such improvements there will be many willing helpers in the reverential work.
The anniversary services were so largely attended that room was not available for all comers at morning service. Visitors came from Kingston, Napanee and Deseronto, including choir leaders from the last named place. The A. O. U. W. lodge members attended in a body. The Sunday school children and teachers, some of the oldest members of the congregation and its clergyman entered the church also in procession. A hearty service followed, the clerical parts being well rendered. The sermon by Rev. J. K. McMorine, of Kingston, was a beautiful exposition of service from the earliest ages and a warm appeal for personal holiness. The offerings were dedicated to the restoration fund. In the evening, Rev. Mr. Smythe, of Kingston, preached with much acceptability. At the morning communion the chalice and plate used were venerable relics having been presented by Archbishop Tait of York, York, Eng., to the church through Rev. Mr. Langhorne in the last century. They were, it will be remembered, a silver chalice, since and recovered from the thief at Clayton, N. Y., just as he was about to melt them down. Among those who took part in the procession were Mr. Joseph Denness, who knew Mr. Langhorne, though he returned to England in 1816, and Mr. T. C. Clough, who was baptised by the pioneer clergyman. Mr. Denness is still an active lay-helper in the parish.

The town of Hull, opposite Ottawa, was visited on Tuesday afternoon by a terrible conflagration, six or seven blocks, comprising between 300 and 450 houses, being completely destroyed, rendering over 2,500 homeless. The total loss is estimated at between $500,000 and $800,000. The entire east end of the city, including the City Hall and Catholic church was destroyed. Hull is a great seat of the lumber industry and is built up mainly of small wooden houses. The population is chiefly French Canadian, employed in the mills and factories. A district half a mile long by nearly a quarter of a mile wide comprising six or seven entire blocks, with nearly 200 of the best houses in Hull, including the cathedral and convent, was valued at $300,000 and was almost blown out. This is the third visitation of a like nature which has befallen this place within six years, but to day's conflagration was not only more extensive but also much more destructive than any of the former calamities. At Easton's Corners, on Wednesday, a man drove up to the home of W. Watts and, stopping, took out of his trunk a basket which he carried into the house and left on the floor, driving away immediately. Mr. and Mrs. Watts just retired to bed at night, but noticed the man in the house. Mrs. Watts got up to fasten the door and while going to it was surprised to find a basket in the room. Her astonishment was increased when it was found to contain a bright baby-boy a few weeks old. The stranger was immediately dressed and when it was found that he was a good supply of clothing and other accessories. Of course who the baby is, where it came from, who left it, and who was a first-class mystery. Mr. Watts married a number of years and children, and did not take a gold mine for the little one.

DON'T

Let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption.

Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself. The breathing apparatus must be kept healthy and clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Otherwise there is trouble ahead.

All the diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchitis, tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of Boschee's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, thousands and thousands of people can tell you. They have been cured by it, and "know how it is themselves." Bottle only 75 cents. Ask any druggist.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you distressed tonight and brooding over your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of Cutting Teeth? If so, at once get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children's Teething." Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Dysentery and Diarrhea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums, reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething is pleasant to the taste" and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup."

Any person thinking of purchasing a first class organ or piano would do well to write to H. Bull, box 99, Belleville, who sells the genuine Bell organ and Heintzman piano. Prices low and payment very easy.

A Years' Experience!

After nearly a years experience of Simon's Liniment I have found it to be what I supposed at first it was, an excellent Liniment to have about stable. I have used it in cases of Cuts, Galls, Bruises and Sprains on my horses, and in every case found relief at once. Cleansing the cuts and galls so that they healed rapidly, and reducing the soreness in cases of sprains and bruises in a short time.

Nothing has presented itself to me that has so effectively relieves and prevents the Horse Distemper. I have also found it of very great service, both in my own family and in the families of my men, in cases for which it is intended to be used.
